What information is collected about users?
We collect information about users when in our website they fill in forms or send reservations or inquiries.

How do we use the information about users?
The data collected are aimed to process your request, manage your account and, if you agree, send you by e-mail information about other products and services that we think may be of interest to you.
We use the information collected from the Website to personalize your next visits to our Website.

Security of user-supplied data
Porto di Mare Restaurant uses a secure online technology and is constantly updating its IT infrastructure in order to offer the greatest possible security to its users. We have adopted security measures to reduce the risk of data destruction or loss, to prevent unauthorized access, illegal processing, and processing that is not in accordance with our data collection goals under our Privacy Policy. However, Porto di Mare Restaurant cannot guarantee its users that the security measures adopted limit or exclude any kind of risk related to unauthorized access or the dispersion of data through user devices. Users are advised to check that their computers are equipped with adequate software to protect the transmission of data on the network both at the entrance and at the exit (eg up-to-date antivirus) and that their Internet service providers have adopted adequate security measures to protect the transmission of data through the network (firewall and antispam filters).

Access and correction of your information
You have the right to request a copy of the information we have about you. If you wish to request a copy of partial or total information of your data retained by Porto di Mare Restaurant please send us an email to portodimarereservas@libero.it
We want to be sure of the accuracy and reliability of the information we hold about you. You may request the correction or removal of any information that is not up-to-date.

Cookies
To make this site work properly, we sometimes place small data files called cookies on your device like most websites do.

What are cookies?
A cookie is a small text file that a website saves on your computer or mobile device when you visit the site. It enables the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another. This is why when you scroll through the website, or return to a website you've visited, you do not have to re-enter your preferences.

How to control cookies
You can control and/or delete cookies as you wish – for details, see aboutcookies.org. You can delete all cookies that are already on your computer and you can set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. If you do this, however, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit a site and some services and functionalities may not work.
